Okta for Government High

Identity for high-impact data and workloads

As a mission-based enterprise, the Federal Government must prioritize user experience to avoid unnecessary disruptions and friction when delivering critical resources. Missions are also evolving to better connect a hybrid workforce, remove barriers for life experiences impacting millions of Americans, and respond to new risks and threats in cyberspace. These strategies and workstreams rest on the foundation of Identity.

Identity is critical infrastructure

Identity is the critical link between people and the sensitive resources they need to access. It's the modern approach and center-piece of Zero Trust that improves organizational security posture. With Identity, agencies can continuously verify user access to mission-critical systems.

Okta for Government High is a tailor-made Identity platform for federal agencies and its mission partners. Okta's achievement of FedRAMP High Authorization to Operate (ATO) provides an Identity-as-a-Service (IDaaS) solution adhering to stringent security controls. Agencies can quickly adopt Okta's FedRAMP-authorized, cloud-native system to centralize and secure access to mission-relevant resources for approved users – anywhere, anytime.

Architectural alignment.
Built on AWS GovCloud, hosted on a secure web domain, and the ability to scale unclassified Identity use cases. Rapidly deploy and integrate with the latest MFA factors and technologies such as Personal Identity Verification (PIV), FIDO2, WebAuthN, Okta FastPass, or YubiKey. Adaptive Multi-Factor Authentication (MFA) introduces smart friction based on dynamic context.

Integrations that matter.
Connect to FedRAMP High applications (ServiceNow, Salesforce, Zscaler, O365, and others) and federate with major vendor-offered and government-backed Identity Providers (IdPs) – such as Login.gov – with Okta's vendor-neutral solution.
